PETRONAS LUBRICANTS INTERNATIONAL AND DUMAREY GROUP FORGE STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIP TO ACHIEVE CARBON NEUTRALITY TARGETS

Working towards a more sustainable future, the two companies partner up to accelerate energy transition.

Torino, 4 February 2025 – PETRONAS Lubricants International, a global leader in lubricant technology through its Fluid Technology Solutions™, and Dumarey Group, a leader in the development and production of propulsion systems, have signed a partnership agreement to join forces on developing engine oil for alternative fuels and high-performance fluids for new energy vehicles.

By leveraging connectivity and data analytics techniques, this strategic partnership aims to advance the development of systems that can predict the need for fluid replacement in customer applications. Beyond that, through this collaboration, the two companies are exploring the opportunity to develop injectors suitable for low-carbon fuels.

Giuseppe Pedretti, Regional Managing Director EMEA of PETRONAS Lubricants International said, “This strategic partnership with Dumarey marks a significant moment in our journey to reach our carbon neutrality targets. By combining our expertise in fluid solutions with Dumarey’s advanced propulsion systems, we look forward to accelerate the development of innovative solutions that will reduce emissions and improve fuel efficiency. Together, we will drive the transition to a low-carbon economy and shape the future of mobility.”

Pierpaolo Antonioli, Chief Technology Officer of Dumarey Group, commenting on the announcement, “We are thrilled to partner with PETRONAS Lubricants International to advance the development of hydrogen combustion engines and integrated electrified propulsion systems. PETRONAS Lubricants’ deep understanding in fluid technology will be instrumental in enhancing the performance and durability of our systems. By combining our strengths, we aim to deliver cutting-edge solutions that will drive the future of sustainable transportation”.

As both companies are committed to create a sustainable future in the automotive industry, this strategic partnership will focus on identifying and capitalising commercial opportunities that will help customers to achieve their environmental goals. By leveraging their combined expertise, the companies aim to strengthen market positions, expand product offerings, and accelerate time-to-market for innovative solutions.

Through this collaboration, PETRONAS Lubricants International and Dumarey will promote their respective products and services, as well as explore joint initiatives and funded projects. The primary goal is to develop groundbreaking products that will drive the transition to a low-carbon economy.
